ADVISORY

READ BEFORE USING YOUR NES

A very small portion of the population may experience epileptic seizures when viewing certain kinds of flashing lights or patterns that are commonly present in our daily environment. These persons may experience seizures while watching some kinds of television pictures or playing certain video games. Persons who have not had any previous seizures may nonetheless have an undetected epileptic condition. We suggest that you consult your physician if you have an epileptic condition or if you experience any of the following symptoms while playing video games: aligned vision, muscle twitching, other involuntary movements, loss of awareness of your surroundings, mental confusion and/or convulsions.

WARNING: DO NOT USE WITH FRONT OR REAR PROJECTION TV

Do not use a front or rear projection television with your Nintendo Entertainment System[®] ("NES") and this video game. Your projection television screen may be permanently damaged if video games with stationary scenes or patterns are played on your projection television. Similar damage may occur if you place a video game on hold or pause. If you use your projection television with this video game, neither Nintendo Software, Inc. nor Nintendo of America, Inc. will be liable for any damage. This situation is not caused by a defect in the NES or this game; other fixed or repetitive images may cause similar damage to a projection television. Please contact your TV manufacturer for further information.

LIBYA 1986

In retaliation for Libyan-sponsored terrorist attacks on American citizens, on April 15, 1986 U.S. Air Force and Navy jets attack military targets inside Libya, including Col. Khadafi's command center at Tripoli. Expect light defenses.

H2/H3 ZONE

You'll be taking off from CV America in the Red Sea and flying over Saudi territory to reach western Iraq. Your targets include hardened Scud missile launch sites and mobile Scud launchers. You will be provided with last known locations of the mobile launchers, but you may have to search the area to find them.
